Research Assistant position at the SDU Climate Cluster Elite Center Mobilizing Post-Anthropocentric Climate Action: A New Root Narrative (PACA) and the Department of Business and Management

Odense, Denmark

Job Description

The Department of Business & Management (DBM) at the University of Southern Denmark (SDU) invites applications for a 3-year Research Assistant position. The position is evenly divided between the elite center PACA led by Prof. Patricia Wolf, Prof. Søren Askegaard and Assoc. Prof. Bryan Yazell and DBM. The position is located at SDU's Campus in Odense and is vacant from 1st January 2025 or soon thereafter.

Job description

The Research Assistant will 50% of the time support the work on the SDU Climate Elite Centre project "Mobilizing Post-Anthropocentric Climate Action: A New Root Narrative" (PACA). PACA seeks to map post-anthropocentric social theories that challenge the nature-culture divide and investigate traces of these theories in the population. It assesses the extent to which such practices and beliefs can provide a positive narrative for a new organization of production and consumption practices and, finally, the role of universities as mediators of the emergent post-anthropocentrism. This project has the ambition to develop into an international hub for research in post-anthropocentric consumption and production systems as foundational for a sustainable economy.

The Research Assistant position for PACA includes the support and coordination of the following tasks:

- research dissemination activities such as event organization, website announcements, social media activities,
- outreach activities such as stakeholder communication and engagement,
- research activities concerning data collection, analysis, and processing,
- administrative support of the directors.

- supervision of student projects
- assisting researchers with research projects
- collecting, processing and analyzing data
- administrative tasks
