1 Professor (Assistant, Associate Or Full) In Operations Management And /Or Supply Chain Management (Lille Campus)

In response to its continuous growth, IÉSEG School of Management is looking for a full-time professor in Operations Management and/or Supply Chain Management at the Assistant, Associate or Full Professor level (Lille Campus, starting September 2026). He/She/They will be a part of the Department of "Operations Management".

ABOUT IÉSEG SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

IÉSEG holds the "triple crown" of international accreditations (AACSB, AMBA & EQUIS) and is a member of the "Conférence des Grandes Écoles". The School offers Bachelor, Master and Post-Graduate Degrees as well as Executive Education programs. IÉSEG is also one of the leading French business schools in terms of research. The IÉSEG Research Center is accredited by the French CNRS (National Center for Scientific Research). Our Lille Campus is in the heart of Northern France (within the triangle made up by London, Paris and Brussels), and our Paris Campus is located in the biggest European business district of "La Défense". More information on the school can be found here: www.ieseg.fr/en

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT

The Operations Management department consists of around 20 members who teach and conduct research in the areas of Operations Management, Supply Chain Management, Healthcare Management, Project Management, Product Development and Revenue Management. Our diverse body of permanent professors have recently published articles in in top-tier refereed international journals such as European Journal of Operational Research, Production and Operations Management, International Journal of Production Economics, Journal of the Operational Research Society and Expert Systems with Application, among other. In addition to their research output, our professors have secured competitive research funding and grants across multiple areas. A detailed overview of our dynamic faculty, showcasing their expertise and achievements, can be found here: Operations Management Department

ABOUT THE POSITION

The position includes both a research and teaching mission. The balance between both will be adjusted to the selected candidate's profile.

Through research, the selected candidate will contribute to the vibrant research community at IESEG. He/she/they is therefore expected to hold a PhD, have a strong publication record (or potential for Assistant Professors) in top-tier refereed journals listed in AJG, as well as a good international network. He/she/they are expected to contribute to the department's ongoing projects and initiatives.

In terms of teaching, the selected candidate will teach courses in supply chain management/operations management at the undergraduate, graduate and/or postgraduate level. In addition, he/she/they will contribute to the development of the Department's programs. As such, we are looking for candidates with strong pedagogical skills, and who are fluent in English, as most courses are taught in this language. Professional experience and knowledge of French are a plus, but not a requirement.

Finally, we are looking for candidates who embody our core values of Accomplishment, Responsibility, Integrity, Solidarity, and Engagement, and fit our diverse and international culture in which over 50 nationalities are represented. IESEG places tremendous value on diversity and inclusion, and we therefore encourage applications from all backgrounds. Underrepresented groups in academia (notably women, minority ethnic groups, people identifying as LGBTQIA+, people with a (non-)visible disability, and people from lower socio-economic backgrounds and/or economically developing countries) are particularly encouraged to apply, as we are highly committed to ensuring that IESEG reflects and benefits from the diversity present in society.

WORKING AT IESEG

At IESEG, we are committed to providing a supportive and engaging work environment. To new faculty members (and their partner), we offer a wide range of resources to help them integrate into the country, culture and school, such as individualized French language courses, a relocation allowance, and housing search assistance. Moreover, all faculty members have access to a competitive salary, as well as benefits such as French social security, a complementary health insurance, meal vouchers, a profit-sharing plan, and a contributory pension scheme. Finally, the school provides resources for research (e.g., funding for conferences and data collection) and offers competitive financial bonuses for high quality international peer-reviewed research publications.
