Dean and Managing Director at JIBS and Vice President at Jönköping University

Take on a defining leadership role at Jönköping International Business School (JIBS) as Managing Director and Dean, and Vice President of Jönköping University (JU), shaping a top-ranked, triple accredited business school's global future.

Purpose, Offer and Benefits

About Jönköping University (JU)

JU is a foundation university organized as a group. Operations are conducted through the Jönköping University Foundation and six wholly owned subsidiaries: the School of Health and Welfare, the School of Education and Communication, Jönköping International Business School, the School of Engineering, University Services, and Jönköping University Enterprise. Collectively, they deliver education, conduct research, and provide support services within a comprehensive and internationally oriented academic environment.

About Jönköping International Business School (JIBS)

JIBS offers an international and team-oriented workplace with competitive educational programs at the bachelor's, master's, and doctoral levels, alongside a thriving research environment and strong opportunities for professional development. Our mission is to advance the theory and practice of business, with a specific focus on entrepreneurship, ownership, and renewal. Our guiding principles are: international at heart, entrepreneurial in mind, and responsible in action.

In the latest Financial Times European Business School ranking, JIBS was ranked among the top 100. JIBS is also internationally recognized for research in its focus areas. The quality of our education, research, and operations is verified by three international accreditations, granted by EQUIS, AACSB and AMBA. We operate as a limited company owned by the Jönköping University Foundation. At JIBS, there are 2,000 students studying at bachelor's and master's levels, 50 PhD students, as well as 120 faculty and staff.

Your Responsibilities

The Vice President appointment

In addition to your role as MD and Dean at JIBS, you will be appointed Vice President at JU and given overall responsibility for strategic issues in one of the areas of research, education, internationalization, collaboration, or sustainability and work environment. This will be done in close collaboration with the other Vice Presidents and the President.

The leadership assignment

In this role, you will lead JIBS into the future based on Jönköping University's vision of "People First", strengthening the school's position nationally and internationally.

You will further develop the sustainable educational and research environment and contribute to JIBS' strong reputation - both within academia and in business and society. You will provide overall academic leadership and, with a trust-based leadership style, lead the school's activities across teaching, research, financing, and knowledge transfer.

You will also build and maintain relationships with external stakeholders in an extensive network of partners and financiers in both national and international contexts. In addition, you will have overall responsibility for administrative governance, faculty recruitment, and the school's working environment - an important focus area linked to our vision.

As MD and Dean at JIBS, you will be responsible for the school's operations, finances, and results, reporting to the President of Jönköping University. As a member of the Jönköping University Management Council, you will contribute to the management and development of Jönköping University as a whole.

The Bigger Picture

The appointment is a four-year term as MD and academic leader, with the possibility of extension. A combination with another position at the university may be considered. The role includes travelling.

Our Expectations

To succeed in this role, you must be a senior academic with an international profile in a field relevant to JIBS who meets JIBS's criteria for professors. The full criteria are available here.

- You need to have experience working as a dean, head of department or an equivalent position that corresponds to the experience of the duties described above.
- You should have a good understanding of academia, as well as documented experience of research, education, and external collaboration with various stakeholders. This is a prerequisite for developing strategies in the field.
- The role requires experience with national and international challenges and opportunities for higher education and research in business schools, such as attracting funding as well as creating and maintaining networks with business partners and stakeholders. Knowledge of EU funding strategies is required, as well as knowledge of Swedish legislation relevant to the role.
- You should have documented successful experience of strategic leadership characterized by a trust-based approach, including inclusion and transparency. You need to have good communication skills, be a good listener and have the ability to make decisions.
- You should be able to serve as a source of inspiration and act as an ambassador for JIBS and Jönköping University.
- You should have excellent communication skills in both spoken and written English. You need to have sufficient language skills to work as an academic leader in a Swedish context.
