WHY AKADEUS?

Since 2009, AKADEUS has been supporting business schools and universities worldwide in recruiting outstanding academic, research and leadership talent. Through our specialised platform, institutions can promote faculty, research, leadership and executive positions to a highly qualified international audience. Our services are designed specifically for business schools, management education institutions and universities seeking candidates with strong academic and professional backgrounds.

AKADEUS provides access to a global network of academics, researchers and higher education professionals from leading business schools and universities around the world. Our specialised newsletter is distributed twice a month to more than 830,000 academics, researchers and higher education professionals, while our candidate database includes over 17,500 active candidates, the majority of whom hold doctoral degrees and are currently employed in academia or industry.

As higher education continues to evolve, AKADEUS also supports recruitment in emerging disciplines including Artificial Intelligence, Business Analytics, Data Science, Information Systems, Digital Transformation, FinTech and Technology Management.

Institutions use AKADEUS to recruit for a wide range of positions, including:

- ◆ Professors and Faculty Members
- ◆ Researchers and Postdoctoral Fellows
- ◆ Deans and Associate Deans
- ◆ Programme Directors
- ◆ Executive Education Leaders
- ◆ Academic Managers and Administrators
- ◆ Senior Higher Education Executives

While remaining firmly rooted in business and management education, AKADEUS continues to evolve alongside the institutions it serves, supporting both established disciplines and the emerging fields shaping the future of higher education.
